TROOPS CLEARED STREETS WITH FIXED BAYONETS

Winnipeg Strike Situation Grows Grave--Mayor Read the Riot Act and Called Out All the Military

Winnipeg, Mar. 31.—The strike situation is rapidly assuming grave proportions. Drastic measures have been decided on by the city authorities to quell the disorders. The Second Canadian Mounted Rifles at 3 p.m. were called out to assist the police in maintaining order. At 3.15 o'clock City Solicitor Hunt announced under authority of the mayor that citizens are warned to keep off the streets where disorders are occurring and that if they go in the way they must take the consequences. Police were patrolling the street all day and night attempting to move the masses that thronged the streets and impeded traffic but were unable to hold the crowd in check. The greatest disorders concentrated at the city hall and the corner of Main and Higgins streets where a large crowd collected. Extra police were sent to that point and the militia marched on the crowd with fixed bayonets at the subway. The crowd was beyond control of the police and the Mounted Rifles were called to disperse them. A detective was seriously injured in an attack by the crowd and the situation rapidly assumed most grave proportions. Hundreds of yelling cursing and hooting men thronged the streets under and about the subway and traffic was at a complete standstill. Cars were completely blocked and the efforts of the police to clear the congestion were futile. The crowd attacked a car just north of the subway and pulled the men in charge off, whereupon the soldiers charged with fixed bayonets and drove the crowd back. In the meantime the mayor located at the corner of Higgins avenue, read twice the riot act, amid the hooting and howling of thousands of spectators. The officer in command ordered the soldiers to load and present arms. The crowd were by this time endeavoring to turn over a car and had it swaying. At the clicking of the rifles they paused in their work of depredation. As the regulars raised their rifles there was a shout of terror and the assemblage scattered down the side streets and into the neighboring states and friendly saloons. They however soon ventured out again. There was no trouble until the street railway and police returned with another car to clear the track. The crowd closed in and it looked for a minute as if there would again be trouble, but the troops dispersed them. The most interesting of incidents was an affair in which Mayor Sharpe, City Solicitor Hunt and a strike-breaker figured. Car 92 passed through the soldiers at the corner of Logan avenue. When through the line it stopped and a strike breaker jumped off. The mayor wished to see the tram and approached. He was received with a heavy blow on the chest from the strike breaker. Ald. Hunter rescued him and the troops seized the man. At 8 p.m. the whole garrison of the R. C. M. R.; 90th, and the 13th field battery were called out and slept on their arms all night. Rural corps of the Manitoba Dragoons were also wired for.

EDMONTON IS NOW WITHOUT FIRE BRIGADE

Secretary Handed in the Resignations of the Volunteer Members at Noon Today--Chairman of Fire, Water, and Light Committee States His Views

Edmonton is this afternoon without a fire brigade. Promptly at the stroke of twelve, H. W. Heathcote, secretary-treasurer of the brigade, walked into the commissioners' office and handed the resignations of the volunteer members of the brigade across the counter with instructions to place it in the hands of the commissioners' office at the time.

The resignation was brief and much to the point. It reads as follows:

TO THE COMMISSIONERS,

City of Edmonton:

Owing to the action of the Council on the night of the 27th inst. in reference to the superintendence of the Chief of the Fire Brigade, we, the undersigned members of the Edmonton Fire Brigade, hereby tender our resignations.

Attached to it were the signatures of all the volunteer members of the brigade.

The four paid men are still at the hall and will stay there until some arrangement is made by the city council to furnish the city with fire protection. Chief Wilson stated this morning that he intends, unless the city council decide to recognize the brigade to place his resignation in the hands of the commissioners as well, but that he is staying at the hall in the interests of the ratepayers, as he does not wish to see their interests prejudiced by the action of the council. At his request the two drivers are also doing the same.

Mr. Heathcote stated to the Bulletin at the time that he handed in the resignations of the volunteer members of the brigade that he wanted it to be distinctly understood that they had no quarrel with the ratepayers whatever and that their action should be interpreted solely as a protest against what they consider the high handed action of the council. Mr. Heathcote stated that the brigade had their bylaws governing them, and that it was nothing more than common courtesy, which they believe they had a right to expect, that the council should recognize these bylaws. If the council did not choose to recognize them, then the firemen did not care to remain members of the brigade.

ALD. GRIESBACH'S VIEWS.

Edmonton, March 31st, 1906.

Editor Bulletin:

Today at 12 o'clock noon the Edmonton fire brigade, which for some fourteen years has stood between this city and destruction by fire on occasions too numerous to mention, steps down and out, and hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of combustible property is without protection. A few words of explanation may be in order from one who claims to have some knowledge of the facts.

At the now somewhat famous meeting of the city council in committee of the whole, the commissioners brought down the salary list for the coming year. Among the items therein set forth was one that a qualified man be engaged at $100 per month to act as chief of the fire department, and another item was that the present chief was to be his assistant at the salary now paid to him, viz. $75 per month. I took the liberty of opposing this proposition in the committee and when the same came before the council I again opposed it and when the vote was taken I found that I was the only opponent, the rest of the council supporting the suggestion. I have reason to hope that upon a reconsideration of the matter some of my colleagues may change their minds. For the reason for opposing the proposition I gave then and I give them now. Firstly—The present chief is a sufficiently qualified man. Secondly—he is not sufficiently qualified to suit the council it is because he has no help.

It is an opportunity by the council to obtain instructions and information to which all citizens seeking to improve their fire departments send their chiefs for that purpose. Thirdly—The present chief is overworked and he is asked to fill too many offices. Fourthly—The volunteer brigade having elected him as their chief, were entitled to some consideration in the matter.

The Edmonton fire brigade is a voluntary organization of citizens of this city who have undertaken a particular branch of civic life, they give unsolicitedly their time, their energy and such ability as they may have to the furtherance of the objects of their organization. By constant practice, by bitter experience men and horses have attained a state of efficiency superior to no other fire brigade in Western Canada. They give their services for it will not be pretended that sixty cents an hour will compensate a man for the spilling of a 350 suit of clothes in 10 seconds and long after spectators have left a fire these men are engaged in washing wet and dirty hose, reloading with dry and otherwise immediately preparing for the next run.

By the constitution of the brigade, sanctioned by by-law of the city, the brigade had the undoubted right to elect its own chief, whose appointment was always confirmed by the council. The present chief was so elected and his appointment was so confirmed by the council, yet the council and the commissioners saw fit to violate the precedents of fourteen years, the constitution of the brigade, the dictates of common sense and the rules of ordinary courtesy and have sought and are seeking to supersede the duly elected and confirmed chief and to thrust upon the brigade an unknown outsider who is also unknown and practically unrecommended to the council and to the board of commissioners. In temperate and dignified language the brigade have stated their position and have withdrawn from the city's service. It occurs to me that the situation is one which will be viewed with considerable alarm by the citizens of this city and doubtless the underwriters will have something to say about the rate of insurance if they do not cancel their policies altogether. It is an altogether regrettable situation, but it is well that the ratepayers should know just where the blame lies and it is well, too, that the ratepayers should realize that the fight is not between the brigade and the citizens, but between the commissioners, the council and the board of commissioners.

If the council does not see fit to treat with the brigade, a paid brigade is the logical result. I stand for more fire halls, for up-to-date apparatus and for all that makes for adequate fire protection. But I question very seriously the wisdom of disbanding like an old glove the splendid volunteer brigade we have always had. I question also the wisdom of adding to the yearly expenditure of this city the sum of from $1500 to $2000 which a paid brigade will entail at this particular stage of the city's development simply to gratify a whim of the commissioners and the blind subservience of the city council.

I question the right of the commissioners when they found themselves confronted with this crisis taking upon themselves without authority from the council the responsibility of practically committing the city to this unnecessary expenditure. The board did not see fit to request the mayor to call a special meeting of the city council last Friday night to deal with the matter. It must always be borne in mind that it was the settled policy of the city to gradually add to the regular paid staff and in that way to work up to the status of a paid brigade. For these reasons I have opposed the council and the board of commissioners and for these reasons I support the brigade.

For these reasons I shall oppose a paid brigade at this time and for these reasons I ask that some consideration be shown to a splendid body of men, who without hope of reward, handicapped by insufficient equipment, in season and out of season, in the summer's heat and winter's bitter cold, have risked life and limb and have served the city for four or five years, faithfully, courageously and energetically, and if not always successfully, at least as well as they knew how.

Your obedient servant,
W. A. GRIESBACH,
Alderman,
Chairman Fire and Water committee.

DAILY TRAIN SERVICE ON C. N. R.

The daily train service on the C. N. R. will commence at 7.15 to-morrow evening, and by the same train closed bags will be dispatched for Fort Saskatchewan, Vegreville, Vermillion, Lloydminster and North Battleford.

The new time table provides that trains will leave Edmonton daily except Friday at 7.15 p.m., arriving in Winnipeg daily except Sunday at 12.20 noon. Westbound the train will leave Winnipeg at 3 a.m., daily except Sunday, and will arrive in Edmonton daily except Monday at 9.15 p.m.

1 Mail will close in the Edmonton post office for points east at 6 p.m. The daily mail service will be a great convenience to Edmonton merchants. Hereafter the mail has been dispatched by the routes in vogue before the railway was built, many of the mail contracts not having expired. By that way of shipping it took several days to reach points along the line and great inconvenience was experienced.

CRONN BUYS CAFE PREMISES

Will Make Extensive Improvements and Establish Metropolitan Grill

R. B. Cronn, proprietor of the Alberta Cafe, has purchased from E. F. Hutchins, of Winnipeg, the Alberta Cafe property, which he now occupies at a price of $15,000. Mr. Cronn intends making some extensive alterations and improvements which will make his place one of the finest west of Montreal.

The contract has already been let to R. Young, of this city to build an addition to the rear of the premises and to excavate and put a foundation under the entire building.

The property in question is situated on Jasper avenue, almost opposite the Alberta Hotel, has a 28 foot frontage, and is considered one of the best business locations on Jasper east. Mr. Cronn has carried on the purveying business on the premises for some time and is already well known for the excellence of his service.

Mr. Cronn's intentions are to fit the entire basement up as a grill room, equipped like a dining car, in which he will serve the regular business man's lunch as is done in all cities and put on a short order service that will be strictly metropolitan. On the upper flat he intends to put in two more dining rooms that will be handsomely equipped and exclusive. The addition at the rear will be used as a kitchen.

Mr. Cronn is furnishing a service in his particular line that is enjoyed by few cities of the size of Edmonton, but his intentions are to improve his establishment until it is on a par with the best afforded in the largest cities.

SOME BILLS BEFORE THE ALBERTA LEGISLATURE

Resume of Some of the Legislation Being Considered by the Provincial House--Bills Passed on the Tenth Day of the Session

BILL NO. 17.

An act respecting public works. This is a great extent a copy of the present "Public Works Ordinance" but is more elaborate and some further powers given to the department of Public Works. The Territorial Legislature were always hampered in framing this Ordinance on account of the "Land Titles Act" being a Dominion Act which they could not alter or infringe upon in their legislation. That trouble is now removed. The Land Titles Act becomes now a provincial statute.

The act provides for the Minister of Public Works having jurisdiction over all kinds of provincial public works including public buildings, provides for the officers of the department. It gives the minister power to expropriate land for public buildings, roads or other works, and in case of dispute regarding compensation provides for adjustment of the claim by arbitration. It gives the minister power to lay out new roads and have same surveyed and appropriated to the public use and all the usual powers granted to the Minister of Public Works in such cases.

BILL NO. 16.

An act respecting suits against the Crown by Petition of Right. This is the usual act and is practically the same as that in force in England, in Canada and in each of the other provinces. It provides that His Majesty (who by a legal fiction is always present and represents the province) may be sued by parties feeling aggrieved if they can show a prima facie case verified by affidavit. The plaintiff must set out his facts in a petition to His Majesty and the Attorney-General may recommend the issue of a fiat by the Lieutenant-Governor which when issued the suit may proceed. The act sets out the procedure governing the commencement and conduct of such actions.

BILL NO. 7.

An act respecting Notaries Public. This is the usual act. It provides for the appointment of two classes of persons as Notaries. 1. Enrolled Advocates. 2. Other persons whose commissions shall be for two years.

BILL NO. 7.

An act respecting Police Magistrates and Justices of the Peace. This is the usual statute. It provides for appointment of police magistrates and Justices of the Peace, by order in council, defines their jurisdiction and procedure and provides for returns of convictions and remittance of fines. Only enrolled Advocates may be appointed Police Magistrates.

BILL NO. 6.

An act respecting commissioners to administer Oaths. Provides for the following persons as commissioners: 1. All enrolled Advocates in the province; 2. All persons now holding commissions and residing in the province; 3. All persons who may be appointed hereafter by the Lieutenant-Governor to take affidavits within the province; 4. Commissioners may be appointed without the province to take affidavits to be used in the province.

BILL NO. 1.

The treasury department act. This is the usual statute in such cases, but includes all provisions regarding the Provincial auditors and his duties sometimes contained in a separate audit act. The department is to be presided over by a member of the cabinet to be styled "Provincial Treasurer."

There is provision for a "treasury board" to consist of such members of the cabinet as shall be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

The board will make regulations regarding method of book-keeping, issuing warrants, etc. They are to keep minutes of these meetings. They have power to examine persons under oath regarding any account and to issue a judge's order to compel appearance of any person to be examined as a witness touching any account. The fiscal year is to end on the 31st day of December.

Editor Bulletin

Dear Sir.—In yesterday's issue of your paper I notice you publish a letter from our city engineer wherein he intimates that the agitation of a section of ratepayers for his resignation has been carefully fostered by contractors for sewer work done during the year and so on. This I take for granted is largely intended for me personally, as I did nearly all the contract sewer and waterworks work done during the year in the city. Seeing that Mr. Hargreaves has seen fit to make such misleading statements I beg to make the following statement of facts, and further state that I hold the documents in my possession over Mr. Hargreaves' signature which bear out the statements given below. During the season I had five separate distinct contracts for city sewers and water works. As soon as through on one contract I went on at the next, until the season's work was stopped by frost. All those contracts called for payments being made as the work progressed. I personally asked for a statement showing how I stood from time to time and never was able to get one until the middle of December, after all work was stopped by frost. This statement was not according to the work done and material used, in some cases the wrong size sewer was given, in nearly all a shortage of length was given, and in several cases he for some reason not

Following are the two statements given me:
 Statement Dec. 15th, 1905—
 Second street, amount due
 Whiteman - $4423.50
 Third street, amount due

clear to me left off hydrants, catch basins and manholes and seems to think I should accept his statement as complete. Through my solicitor, Mr. Wallbridge, I applied to the council for an official measurement or stock taking of the work I had done. Mr. Hargreaves at once tried to prevent this being done and said the statement given out was only a progressive one and not necessarily correct, and that the work was not complete yet, the parts he claims not complete being the inverts in the bottoms of the manholes. Those are put in with concrete and as far as I can judge from a personal inspection of one's done by the city mentally equal to theirs. Otherwise he admits the tiny contract is complete and is holdign back money due me for said work. Now as to whether I was justified in asking the council to see that I got a final stock taking I leave your readers to decide after you have taken stock of the two statements of the work done. Mr. Hargreaves finally, when he found and pressed for adjustment, had two of his staff go over the work and on March 13th, '06, I got a second statement with a cheque to balance for $417.19, also showing that they will hold 10 per cent. back in addition to the above. While the former statement shows everything paid but the 10 per cent. "hold back." For the 10 per cent. I have been trying to get my just dues and for doing so Mr. Hargreaves seems to think I am to blame for all his troubles, which I think he is largely to blame for himself on account of the way he sees fit to handle the public works department.

Statement March 13th, '06—
 Second street, amt. due

The above is the result of a wreck on the Manitoba & Northwestern two miles west of Keyes-to-day. There is an ugly rumor that others may be under the wreckage. The last two cars of the train struck a broken rail while the train was travelling at a high rate of speed, and the train was derailed. T. Gordon Elliott, of London, the man who was killed, was on his way from Portage to Hamilton. He was a Normal student, and was identified by Miss Nellie Davidson, of Longford, another Normal student. He fell through a window when the train toppled over and was dragged some distance under the car. The accident occurred when the train was on a slight incline. The derailed cars ran a hundred yards on the embankment, turned over and were dragged fifty feet. They were smashed and battered out of all semblance to coaches beside the tracks. A wrecking crew from Minneapolis was rushed to the scene of the accident and conveyed the injured to Neepawa, where doctors received them. They were hurried to the hospital. The Beckett boy is the most injured, but the doctors have hope of his recovery. Many who were very slightly injured would not give their names lest their friends be uneasy. They went west by the next train.

THE FIREMEN'S COMPLAINT

The city firemen have registered a strenuous and unanimous protest with the commissioners against the superintendence of their chief, and if the threat of yesterday is carried out Edmonton will be without a brigade before these words are printed. The situation should be sufficiently serious to stir the council and the citizens generally into an examination of the cause of the trouble. As it is, the brigade under their resignations, it means that the city is at the mercy of the flames until their places are filled or until the difficulty is adjusted and might also involve the question of the city's liability for damages occurring by fire during this time.

Under the city charter the control of the fire brigade is left in the hands of the commissioners. The engagement or discharge of the chief is absolutely within their power or subject to their recommendation. Were the brigade composed of paid men, therefore, it would be only in cases where the commissioners showed personal motives, a lack of public interest or a want of judgment that criticism of their actions would be in order. But the brigade is not a paid but a volunteer brigade. There are on the brigade four paid men required to look after the apparatus at the hall and upwards of forty volunteer members. These volunteer members are citizens of this city who have given their time and services to building up a brigade which for efficiency under existing conditions is not surpassed in the West. That their motive has not been a selfish one is amply apparent from the fact that while on duty they are paid 60c per hour, they are liable to be called on duty at any hour, under any circumstances and for any length of time. That these men should be treated by the authorities in any manner resembling a slight is surely poor reward for their public spirit.

Yet such is the ground of the complaint made by the brigade against the commissioners. The brigade exists under a city by-law and with authority so derived has a by-law providing that the list of officers elected annually by the brigade shall be sent up to the council for ratification. This the firemen claim was done after the last election, at which the present chief was chosen, but no communication was received by them even acknowledging receipt of the list, and the first action in this connection taken by the council to their knowledge was the resolution endorsed on Tuesday evening amounting practically to a dismissal of the chief. On the grounds that the chief is satisfactory to the brigade, and that the brigade was slighted by the council, the men decided to tender their resignations unless immediate action was taken for a satisfactory settlement.

The protest of the firemen is another echo from that now somewhat celebrated session of the council on Friday evening last when the decision to engage another chief was endorsed and embodied among the resolutions made public on Tuesday. As in the case of the other resolutions no explanation or reason for the action of the council has been given out and the firemen are in ignorance as to why their chief is to be dismissed and the public equally in ignorance as to why their property is endangered. This situation it appears to us, is fair neither to the chief, the brigade, the public, nor the aldermen themselves. If there were good grounds for the change the aldermen owe it to all parties concerned to make these known, and to no more than to themselves. Otherwise the council will leave the chief under an undesired stigma, the brigade with an undesired rebuff, the public with a feeling of undesired disregard and themselves open to charges which may be equally undesired.

A SETTLEMENT WHICH DOES NOT SETTLE

The city council has at last dealt with the city engineer problem but the manner in which the matter was handled and the action which is proposed can scarcely be claimed likely to allay public discontent with the city engineer, to confirm public confidence in the city council or to hold any more promise of a satisfactory adjustment and conduct of the public works department.

The situation which confronted the city council was that of a civic official against whom rightly or wrongly there existed a very considerable and very rapidly increasing measure of discontent. To this discontent some members of the city council had contributed their share and owed their election. The reasonable course under the circumstances would have been an examination by the city council not only of the specific accusations launched against the individual, but of the general conduct of the department over which he presided. Such investigation would have resulted in showing either that the city engineer was efficient or was not efficient. In the former event it would have been the duty of the council to give their frank endorsement to a capable official wrongfully accused; in the second case it would have been no less their duty to have discharged an incompetent man. Whichever course were made necessary by the finding of the investigation the council were in duty bound to take a frank and responsible stand before the public. Had they done so in defence of a competent man subjected to the charge of prejudice or ignorance, they would have won the enthusiastic approval of the electors in following the course of justice; had they done so in defence of this public against the incompetence of a public official entrusted with enormous opportunities for mischief they would have been none the less sturdy upholders. But the council declined to assume the responsibility of such open stand. The deliberations of that body on the general situation were conducted behind closed doors, and the public is given only the bald fact that the council will retain the unpopular official at an increased salary, while engaging a city engineer at a much larger salary to do the work hitherto done by him. Reasons for this course doubtless existed, but they have not been given to the public and to those reasons the public is entitled. If these reasons are valid the council should have no hesitation in producing them, but that they are valid is by no means assured by the fact that they are suppressed from the public gaze. Unless and until they are made public the council is open to the charge of having shifted the responsibility of an open stand, of having invited hostility by disregard of public discontent and of having compromised the situation without assigning any reason for so doing. While failing absolutely to remove the cloud from the reputation of the public works commissioner, the council have by the manner of their conduct given an unpleasant autocratic appearance to their own doing.

Not is the solution itself likely to prove more satisfactory than the method of solution. Briefly the plan proposed admits that the public works commissioner is not qualified to discharge the duties of city engineer and yet proposes to place under him a man capable of doing this work, and drawing a salary fifty per cent higher than the official head of the department. The commissioner of public works was selected for that position by reason, not of business ability, but of engineering knowledge and experience. At the time of his appointment it was felt advisable to have in charge of the public works department a man capable of combining the offices of public works commissioner and city engineer and who when the time for the separation of the offices arrived would be capable by reason of his technical knowledge, of understanding and directing the work of the city engineer. The same argument is advanced at present in favor of retaining Mr. Hargreaves at the head of the department. But the conditions under which it is proposed to retain him declare his incompetence to discharge the work of city engineer, and in consequence his incompetence to supervise and direct that work. If the public works commissioner understands the work of a city engineer then he should be made city engineer and given the higher salary of that official. If he does not understand the work then he is not qualified to supervise and direct the work of a man who does understand it.

REGARDING TAXES.

Durand Alta, Mar. 24.
Ed. Bulletin: Tonight I received a copy of the Bulletin containing S. K. Allen's answer to my article regarding taxes. Judging from his extravagant use of expletives, I must have hit him in a tender spot. It is quite probable he is a councillor and drawing good pay for "killing time." For more than twenty years I was chairman of the board of supervisors and know something about taxes there. I was editor and proprietor of the Salem Pioneer Register for some time and became familiar with such matters throughout the States. If Mr. Allen ever paid $40 tax on a quarter it must have been in one of the drouth stricken sparsely settled countries where they put down arable waste at public expense. Thousands of acres in some of these countries changed ownership via the tax title route, and other thousands passed to loan companies via foreclosure. My taxes ran from $14 to $29 per quarter, which included the state tax, etc. Before writing for publication I will send to several county auditors for itemized taxes for those years and try to find out what county Allen came from. If teachers are paid too much (and they are) it matters not where the money comes from.

THE FUTURE OF EDMONTON BIG CHANCES TO GROW

Thriving City Has a Solid Foundation for Extension and Prosperity—Plenty of Opportunities for Commerce in the Future

(John P. McConnell in the Toronto Star.)

Edmonton, March 17.—How about the Edmonton boom, I hear things are moving pretty lively out there? This and a score of similar questions were asked of me on a recent trip to the West. Edmonton during the past year has loomed large on the Western horizon. On principle I don't believe in booms. A boom is a sort of collective or commercial intoxication, and like other forms of artificial exhilaration, is liable to be followed by the "morning-after-the-night-before" feeling. Edmonton is prosperous; its future is one of the sure things of the West; its large and rapid growth is a certainty. It contains all the elements, present and prospective for the making of a great city. But all these things do not justify, though they may account for, the wave of speculative intoxication in real estate values of which Edmonton is now in the throes. That there is a real estate boom on, and one of the old-time whorls, cannot be denied.

Let us first talk about Edmonton's solid development. I prefer to dwell upon than the fact that the real estate atmosphere is feverish.

Fifteen months ago, when I first visited Edmonton, this boom had not set in. In fact, things were rather at a standstill. Some of the big traders had just handed over checks for enormous losses in the fur business to Revillon Freres, who by superior market facilities and huge capital had manipulated fur prices to the disadvantage of the local men, and their own emolument. The real estate business was quiescent. Plenty of houses were to be let and "for sale" notices. The C. P. R. was the only railroad touching the town; in fact, it stopped at Strathcona across the river. The G. N. R. had not yet reached town. The building trades was no more than normal for a town of this size. Alberta was not then a Province, and Edmonton was not its capital. Edmonton was living in hopes more or less remote.

The other morning when I boarded the train at Calgary to come to Edmonton, I began to observe evidences of Edmonton's prosperity. The whole talk of the smoker was Edmonton. A party of ladies and gentlemen, who had journeyed from Vancouver, now began to talk of Edmonton. The thought of getting home, and into the thick of Edmonton business again filled their minds with Edmonton. One man told me confidentially that another occupant of the same car was worth ten to fifteen millions, all of which he had made in Edmonton, and half of it in the last year. The millionaire told us the other man had made $100,000 during the last six months, and while he was away on this holiday trip his son had cleared up $50,000. Another was pointed out whom I was informed had struck Edmonton nine years ago with sixteen dollars, and was now worth $600,000. And so on. How much of these large fortunes have been realized in speculation and are still represented in real estate at present prices I did not inquire.

Then I took a walk through the train and compared the crowd with the one I had travelled with on my first journey to the northern metropolis. Then there were few women, sometimes none. Only a few drummers occupied the sleeper. To-day the car is filled. Half the passengers are richly dressed women. The men are capitalists, merchants, travellers, all busy money-making business men. Then into the diner. Last year there was no diner. We stopped at Red Deer and bolted a four-bit meal, while the train waited for us. Train hasn't time to wait to-day. Moreover, it carries a sufficient number of the class of people willing to pay for a square meal at dining car prices. Last year the tourist and colonist cars—there was one of each—were only indifferently filled. To-day every seat is occupied. There are waiters, mostly from the United States, shrewd farmers with money, men who have sold Dakota, Nebraska, Ohio, or Illinois lands at $100 to $125 per acre, who are coming here to buy land at five dollars per acre, and homestead more at nothing per acre. These men have their families, their sons, daughters and wives. The freight trains are following with implements, horses, stock, furniture. There are enough settlers on this train to settle a township and to put five thousand acres of prairie under wheat and oats within a year. And this train runs every day. In a few days it will run twice a day.

Then I came back to the sleeper and watched the towns from the car window as we passed. Nearly every town has increased or doubled. These men are building everywhere. New farms are dotted all over the country. Where a year ago the coyote was the only denizen of miles of willow and waving grass, there are fields of broken land and dead stubble. Think of it, in a year hundreds of new farms, half a dozen new towns, a dozen old ones doubled in size, thousands of acres of new wheat producing area—and Edmonton will be the supply point of seventy-five per cent. of it. Moreover, this is only one line of four or five that will reach Edmonton within a year or two. That is why Edmonton's whole-sale commercial future is assured. Then in Edmonton itself, eleven banks have already opened their doors. Two more will do so as soon as their premises are ready. Storms have doubled the newspapers and doubled their circulation. A street railway is being organized. Flour and other cereal companies are forming. Edmonton in fact the whole Saskatchewan country, lies on an immense coal belt. Its agricultural future is beyond question, and it extends for hundreds of miles north, south, east, and west. Timber can be floated down the Saskatchewan from the foothills of the Rockies. Power is cheap, the market for manufactures, the product of local industry, is ment be asked to undertake to safeguard the Government ditch on the east side of Namsa road from Rat Creek north. Carried.

The next meeting of the council will be held June 2nd.

W. HOGAN, Sec.-Treas.

Daily Market Letter

(Edwards-Wood Co.)

Edmonton, March 30 1906.
Minneapolis wheat—Liverpool cables were 1-4 higher this morning. The bears tried to force a further decline in our market this morning, the opening being 1-4 cent below yesterday's close at what proved to be the low point for the day. There was good buying by holders of puts as well as covering by shorts which advanced the price a full cent where early buyers took profits, which, together with selling against calls checked the advance and caused reaction where the market held firm, closing strong, 5-8 higher than yesterday. The action of the market to-day shows that we were correct in our belief, as expressed for the past two days, that when bought on the recent break would show a profit in the near future. We still advise the purchase of wheat on all set backs. Range of prices to-day: Chicago May wheat, opening 77-1-8, high 77-7-8, low 77-1-4; Chicago July wheat, opening 77-1-2, high 77-1-2, low 77-1-2; Minneapolis May wheat, opening 75-5-8, high 75-5-8, low 75-5-8; Minneapolis July wheat, opening 74-1-2, high 74-1-2, low 74-1-2; Minneapolis puts 76-1-8, calls 75-7-8.

Settlement at Oliver

(Correspondence)

Oliver, March 30.—Every day we read of villages and towns springing up with mushroomlike growth along the line, and it comes as no surprise to hear that enterprising individuals have begun to hustle at Oliver—better known as Horse Hills. This siding is situated nine miles northeast of Edmonton, half way to Fort Saskatchewan, and is the largest between Battleford and Edmonton, measuring 300 yards long. Before the line came through a store was erected near the hotel, and is now doing a flourishing business. A brick yard and worksheds about to be commenced and a sand quarry will be opened in a week or two. We predict a prosperous future for this infant settlement. The people are up-to-date and enterprising, and no doubt other ventures will be commenced this spring.

TENDERS

CONSERVATIVE CONSERVATISM

Opposition Comes to Hold the Land Policy of the Government.

Ottawa, Ont., Mar. 30.—A motion to go into supply today Dr. Roche, of Marquette, moved an amendment that railway corporations in the northwest be obliged to select their lands as early as possible, not later than than November 1, 1906, and that sections not released be kept for bona fide settlers. This was seconded by Schaffner, member for Souris.

Reference was made to the Saskatchewan Valley Land Company, and Turfiff replied saying that the Saskatchewan Valley Land Co. had to carry out settlement conditions and filled the same while none of the colonization companies started by the late Government had done so. Hon. P. Oliver said that after twenty-five years the Conservatives had come to the view of the Government in its land policy. It was always the policy of the Liberals to hold the land for the settlers while the Conservatives gave it away to land speculators, and showed this from Hanford. In the last provincial elections in the west it was held by their opponents to be robbery to keep the land from the settlers. Ames of Montreal supported Roche and Knowles, of West Assiniboia, followed, saying that the Government had never given one acre of land to a railway company. Greenway moved the adjournment of the debate.

ORGANIZING FOR BALL SEASON

Grounds Have Been Secured and
Meeting will be Held Next Week

Baseball enthusiasts are commencing to frame up for the coming season and there are indications that there will be a warm team in this city this summer with none of the frenzied finance finish that took all the glory off last year's campaign.

The boys have already made considerable progress in the matter. They have concluded a deal in the matter for the lease of the same grounds that they had last year, adjacent to the Canadian Northern track between Second and Third streets and are now trying to make arrangements to have a fence erected around the plot so that the fans who like to see the game at two bits per will have a chance to go through a turnstile and see their money rung up on the indicator. The baseball game has always been well patronized in the city and with proper arrangements for cashing in on its popularity there is no doubt that sufficient simoleons can be harvested at the gate to pay the legitimate expenses of the team and leave thirty cents or so to buy chewing gum for the boys.

There is enough good material in the town to make a swell combination for this year, and it only needs a little organization to bring out an aggregation of stars that will herald Edmonton's name abroad as the champions of Alberta and all the Last West. Nearly all the boys who twirled the horseshoe and slammed out the sockologues last year are in the city again or are coming. Charlie Vining, the man from Michigan, who is there with the horse-shoe curves, is in the city, after having spent the winter in the Wolverine State, where they grow baseball players and feed them on pine needles to make them sharp. He will be ready to deliver a few receivers as soon as there is any one to backstop, and he has the goods right on him all the time. Then there is Dobson who can stop anything short of a Kansas cyclone, and Castor who is not yet in the city, but hopes to be so in the immediate future. These two make a team of backstops that would be hard to beat in these latitudes. For material to decorate the positions about the diamond there are Maloney, Tull, Milne, and Hunt, already known to fame among the fans, and a whole bunch of dark horses who have been just waiting for some one to go and knock up files until they could give them a sample of their science in the great international game. There will be no lack of good material—in fact the man who becomes manager will probably have so many good players waiting to see the stadium that he will probably have to shake the dirt to see who goes onto the award.

Other towns besides Edmonton are making preparations for the coming season. Wetaskiwin writes that they are organizing and will be in a position to put a better team in the field this year than last, which means that they will require a whole lot of batting. Calgary also writes that they will have a very lively aggregation this summer and there is a first class chance that Strathcona will have a team also, which would be about the luckiest thing that could happen to the game on this part of the map. Down the C.N.R. line Vermilion and Vegreville are both being looked to for teams, although they have not been heard from definitely yet. The C.N.R. towns are still so new that the people have hardly had time to get acquainted with themselves yet, to say nothing about getting acquainted with the people of other towns, but they will undoubtedly get around to it in the near future.

To start the season off in Edmonton an organization meeting is to be held some evening next week, probably Wednesday or Thursday, probably at the Imperial hotel, and all enthusiastic fans and players, or those who would like to be players are invited to attend.

—The Braemar Social Circle spent a very enjoyable evening in Houston's hall last night, when 35 couples tripped in light fantastic until an early hour. The music for the occasion was supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Richardson, of the Edmonton orchestra. Mrs. Picard was the hostess of the evening and Mr. French filled the position of master of ceremonies.

—The case of Arthur Edgson, of Edmonton, who was charged by Neil Ross with selling him a horse that was unsound, was settled out of court yesterday afternoon, the defendant agreeing to pay Ross $25, while Ross pays the costs of trial. Magistrate Wade exonerated Edgson from the charge of having wilfully sold the horse, knowing that it was unsound.

—G. F. R. Kirkpatrick, manager of the Imperial bank, has received a request from James Kerr Osborne, of Toronto, for a picture of the building wherein the first legislature of Alberta is meeting. The photograph is to be engraved upon a silver shield to be presented to H. M. S. "Dominion," along with photographs of the provincial buildings of other provinces. Mr. Kirkpatrick has secured a photo of McKay avenue school, which he will forward to Toronto.

—The re-organization of the Edmonton city football club took place Thursday night at the Richelieu hotel. Over twenty of the boys were present, and the meeting was enthusiastic. The following officers for the season were elected: Captain, J. McCashlin; vice captain, Geo. Merryweather; secretary, Fred Marshall. These three gentlemen compose the executive committee, together with Geo. Speers, W. Hill and Duncan Mackay. The prospects for a crack team this season are better than ever, and as soon as grounds are procured the boys will be out for practice.

—The Canadian Northern inaugurated a new passenger service between the city and Winnipeg, commencing Sunday, April 1st. Trains will leave Edmonton daily except Friday at 7:15 p. m., arriving in Winnipeg daily except Sunday at 12:20 noon. Westbound trains leave Winnipeg daily except Sunday at 8 a. m., arriving in Edmonton at 10:15 a. m. daily except Monday. The Canadian Northern has been noted for having the best equipment obtainable, and under the new time table it will be the aim of the company to make the service as nearly perfect as possible.

—Calgary Herald: J. K. Cornwall, of the well-known fur-trading firm of Cornwall & Bredin, spent yesterday in Calgary, en route to Ottawa, New York and Paris. Mr. Cornwall goes east in the interests of Revillon Bros., to whom Cornwall & Bredin recently sold out. At the Palmiste last night a supper was given in honor of Mr. Cornwall at which the following gentlemen were present, W. L. Walsh, K. C., Crispin Smith, Lawrence J. Clarke, Geo. L. Peel and John J. Young. The supper was put up by "Café's" best style, the table being beautifully decorated with carnations and ferns.

—A horse belonging to Geo. Manuel, of Corvieu & Manuel, and hitched to a buggy, ran away yesterday afternoon and collided with a post in front of Calhoun's stables in First street, breaking its leg. It was found necessary to shoot the animal. Mr. Manuel was standing beside the horse and rig, which was standing in front of his warehouse at the corner of Rice & Howard. The horse took fright and started off, and Mr. Manuel became entangled in the wheels and was dragged a short distance, but was uninjured. The horse dashed up Rice street and came into contact with the hitching post at Calhoun's stables with considerable force, fracturing his fore leg below the knee. The animal was a handsome one, and Mr. Manuel had refused an offer of $225 for him on Monday last.

—Calgary Albertan: Alberta is better supplied with newspapers than any other province in Canada. With a population of a little more than 200,000 we have four dailies and forty-one weekly papers. It is doubtful if there is a state in the union or another province in Canada according to population, as well supplied. Of the 41 papers two dailies are published north and two south, fourteen weeklies north and twenty-seven south, two being published at Red Deer. Four years ago Alberta had one daily paper and seventeen weeklies. The papers published then are all in existence now, and have all expanded wonderfully. The south country has shown the greater increase in publications. In the north two dailies have been added. In the north eight weeklies have been added, one being French and another German. In the south fourteen have been added in the four years. This is one evidence of the prosperity and advance of the country.

—Thos. McLeod Munroe, late of Western Australia, who has been in Edmonton for the past few days, is leaving this morning for his homestead near Ston, fifty-five miles north-west of the city. Sixteen years ago Mr. Munroe left England with the rush for Australia gold fields and ever since he has been following the gleam of the gold. He has travelled all over Australia and New Zealand, and is a typical Australian bush-ranger. He heard about Edmonton and Sunny Alberta long before he quit digging for gold and used to read in the papers by the fire in his shanty, and look at the pictures of Edmonton, while he ate his lunch down by his claim. The pictures and the story of the fairland of Alberta fascinated him and he left his spade and pick-axe, and gathered up his gold dust and left Australia for the land he had read about. He got to Vancouver about two months ago, and after knocking around the coast city and seeing a few nights in the Rockies, he came through to Edmonton. He made straight for the land office and located a homestead in no time. He is in love with the country and thinks the climate is tip-top. He is here to stay, and is going to make a success at farming.

NEED MORE WATERING CARTS
The recent dry hot weather has made the streets of Edmonton very dusty and the necessity of new watering carts which was provided for at a recent meeting of the council is very apparent. During the morning hours the dust is not so bad, but in the afternoon after a long day of clear sunshines, especially if there is a little wind blowing, the pedestrian to be comfortable, would have to wear automobile goggles. The damage to the stocks of store-keepers is also a very considerable item.
